

Plus Hosting Serbia launches a new offer for premium customers

Milan, 16 March 2021. DHH S.p.A. (“DHH”) (DHH.MI | WDHH21.MI) (ISIN shares IT0005203622 | ISIN warrants IT0005203689), the cloud computing provider of Southeast Europe, announces that Plus Hosting Serbia, brand of mCloud, the Serbian subsidiary involved in the cloud computing field, launched a new offer for its premium customers.

The past 2020 has led to a real expansion of the internet business. As a consequence of the Covid 19 pandemic in the cloud computing industry there has been a massive online conversion of many businesses and the websites have become more numerous and demanding also in terms of performance and positioning in search engines to stand out from competitors.

To meet these ever-growing needs of its customers, Plus Hosting has created a new offer for its premium customers, having the following characteristics:

- All web hosting products include a dedicated IP address. This means that the website and email server cannot bear the consequences of “bad neighbours”, which is the case with common shared hosting services.
- Premium resources. Powerful hardware with lots of CPU, RAM, SSD resources designated just for the customer’s needs.
- LiteSpeed web server, on which the premium offer is based, is up to ten times faster than the Apache web server. This means that the pages will also load much faster compared to standard web hosting environments.
- Protection against malicious attacks. Premium service has multiple layers of protection and protects automatically and proactively. It learns on the go and makes new day-to-day rules, blocks malicious users and IP addresses it recognizes as malicious, as well as attackers, and blocks brute force attacks as well as various injection attempts, making applications and user websites safer.
- Regular backup of all data that is done daily. Backups are migrated daily to physically separate backup servers and additionally copied to backup servers in a remote location, all for the purpose of superior security of data.
- Free website migration. The very thought of migration and potential problems in the process is always the biggest concern of clients. All data, images, emails and databases will be transferred to Plus Hosting - without interruption, completely free of charge.
